WITNESSES CALLED IN WAITE TRIAL

Several Co-aborate Story that the Un- dertaker Was Paid for Putting Arsenic in Embalming Fluid

(Special to The Herald)
New York, May 24.—The strongest link in the chain of evidence that the prosecution has presented in its efforts to send Dr. Arthur W. Waite to the electric chair for the murder of his father-in-law, John H. Peck, is expected to be forged today.

The mysterious "K. Adams," the woman whose brief telegram flashed out a warning that stopped Peck's funeral, is expected to take the stand. Her identity has been closely guarded by the district attorney's office.

Mrs. Margaret Horton with her sister, Helen Weaver and her husband took the prisoners' pen near his counsel's table. When Waite entered court he stared at his "studio companion" and then turned away, without a flash of recognition. Stung by the rebuke, Mrs. Horton wept softly for several minutes.

The prosecution opened the third day of the trial by calling several minor witnesses to co-aborate the story told yesterday by Eugene Kane, the embalmer, of Waite's meeting with Kane giving him a check for $2,000, and later cashing a second check for $2,300 and giving it to the embalmer to put arsenic in a sample of the embalming fluid.

Mrs. Clara Louise Peck Waite today took the stand to testify against her husband, Dr. Waite. As the ill-fated figure in black took the stand, Waite leaned forward eagerly, and then suddenly recollecting himself, settled back and attempted to assume his attitude of indifference. He was very nervous despite visible efforts to control himself. Mrs. Waite's voice broke several times during the recital of the intimate details of the last illness of her father. Mrs. Waite told of all the opportunities Dr. Waite had for handling her father's food, beginning with the Thursday night prior to his death. She by step she described all the happenings of the following two days, saying that Dr. Waite went out early Saturday morning and returned at noon, bringing with him a large bottle containing some "white stuff."

NEW HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE NOTES

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., May 23.—The first day of the first community conference at New Hampshire college came to a close this evening with a lecture by Secretary C. C. Robinson of the Boys' Work Department of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A., "The Boy as a Community Resource." The purpose of the conference is to offer men and women interested in the social problems of community life in this state an opportunity to consider and discuss common difficulties and opportunities. The interests of the rural and small communities are to be given special emphasis.

Representative people from all over the state have been invited here, and Dean C. H. Feltz in his opening address explained that "these are not meetings to exploit any particular theory of trade, government, religion, education or morals but rather to furnish an open forum for presentation of theories of eminent men and for their general discussion by those present."

Professor E. H. Groves of the Department of Sociology, through whose efforts this conference has been called, presided at the morning session and Dean C. H. Feltz presided at the afternoon session. The Dean welcomed the visitors. The Dean said, "If year by year New Hampshire college can draw to itself an increasing number of unselfish active men and women from all parts of the state for the avowed purpose of planning better things for our community life, who can measure the uplifting influence that can be carried back to remote hamlets to invigorate and stimulate every legitimate interest."

"New Hampshire college as the natural head of the educational system of the state, justified its existence not only by its service to the state but by its service to the community. It is the duty of the college to serve the state and the community by offering courses of study, service to the agricultural interests of 1000 working girls. She explained through the extensive service and the excellent station service to community welfare by supplying at nominal expense, lectures on economic, educational and other subjects, and now it seeks to develop leaders in community welfare work through the agency of this community conference.

The first speaker was Professor G. C. Smith who discussed "The Farmer and His Market." He declared that the middle-man can not be entirely eliminated as he is a necessary component of the man who is the consumer. City markets and making use of the parcel post enable the farmer to avoid the paying of toll to the middleman only in an almost negligible degree, and Professor Smith sees more hope in the formation of co-operative marketing associations and the standardization of products than in anything else. He suggested that an investigation as to means of getting New Hampshire farm produce to New Hampshire consumers without having the goods go through the parts of the state for the avowed purpose of planning better things for our community life, who can measure the uplifting influence that can be carried back to remote hamlets to invigorate and stimulate every legitimate interest."

Other speakers of the morning were the Rev. D. C. Babcock of Somersworth who gave an interesting talk on "The Share of the Church in Community Betterment" and Miss Christine C. Swanson who spoke of the "Country Girl Problem in the City." Miss Swanson who is an alumnus of New Hampshire college is the superintendent of the Franklin Square House in Boston which houses 1000 working girls. She explained the many difficulties with which the solitary working girl in the city is confronted, and the means which such an institution as the Franklin Square House make use of in their solution.

In the afternoon the program was opened by Prof. C. L. Simmons of the Department of Education of New Hampshire college who discussed the school and community problems. He was followed by Fred H. Freeman, secretary of the county work department of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. whose subject was "Unifying the Forces of the Community." The Rev. Harold Davidson of the Congregational church at Lisbon told of the work for community welfare that has been done in Lisbon by the Parish House. He explained that by Parish House he meant not a parsonage but a building owned by the church and devoted to social activities. He explained that the house was dedicated to the thought that churches as well as individuals should co-operate, and his talk was an interesting explanation of the actual working of this idea.

After a brief discussion the afternoon program was concluded with a lecture by J. C. Orcutt, secretary of the committee on agriculture of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, on "The Marketing of Farm Products." This talk was illustrated.

In the evening Mr. Orcutt spoke again, his subject being "Rural Organization."

The meeting tomorrow begins at 2 o'clock when Secretary C. C. Robinson will discuss "The Problem of the Employed Boy."

The meetings are being held in the Physics lecture room in Dummer hall.

FAILS TO CONFIRM RUBLEE

Senate Refuses to Reinstall Him on Trade Commission

Washington, May 24.—Administration efforts to have the Senate reconsider its refusal to confirm the nomination of George Rublee of New Hampshire as a member of the Federal Trade Commission failed late Tuesday by a tie vote of 33 to 33.

This ends the fight to keep Mr. Rublee on the commission, where he has been serving for 15 months. He probably will continue in office under President Wilson's recess appointment, until near the end of this session of Congress, although he can draw no salary for either past or future service. Senatorial courtesy blocked confirmation of the nomination. The commission's ability or integrity were not questioned, but Senator Gallinger, the Republican leader, ejected him on the ground that he had been personally obnoxious in opposing him for reelection. Today's action was on a motion by Senator Hiram, to reconsider the vote by which the Senate last week rejected the nomination, 42 to 36.

IS CHARGED WITH TRESPASS

Seabrook Man Figures in the Third Case in Superior Court

Arthur W. Evans of Seabrook, who has figured in three cases in superior court at Exeter, is made defendant in another action practically on the same lines as the previous ones.

The plaintiff this time is George A. Philbrick of Newburyport, who owns a farm in Seabrook which he conducted by William N. Davis who has been both plaintiff and defendant in previous cases with Mr. Evans. The allegations are placed on trespass. It being alleged that Davis dug post holes, which Evans claimed were on his land, and filled them up. They were dug again and posts set, the posts were pulled up and the holes filled again, it is said. The dispute is regarding the boundary.

The jury left this morning to look over the place of dispute in Seabrook and the case went on trial for the opening of the afternoon session.

BOSTON & MAINE DIRECTORS MEET

Reorganization of Road With N. Y., N. H. & H. Considered

Boston, May 24.—The directors of both the Boston and Maine and the New York New Haven and Hartford railroad held meetings in this city Tuesday. Reorganization of the former company was said to be the subject of discussion by both boards.

Whether any variations in the plans for rehabilitation announced recently were to be proposed could not be learned officially from either body.

Disposition of the Boston and Maine stock owned by the New Haven through the medium of the Boston railroad holding company it was understood, was to be arranged in accordance with a plan to be agreed upon by both boards.

Relief in Palmonary Or Throat Troubles depends largely on the sufferer's ability to uphold a weakened system, and thus hasten a return of normal body functions.

In this effort much depends on fresh air—night and day—and rest and good food. The patient should refrain from work that overtaxes, and all sanitary precautions should be taken. These commonsense measures do not always achieve the desired results unless aided by proper medication.

Why Boys Leave the Farms.

There are some who cannot understand why so many boys are anxious to leave the farms and go to the cities to seek their fortunes, but the explanation is simple when one stops to consider all of the circumstances. So many country boys have achieved success in the cities that there has come to be a general belief that the large centers are the places for one to get ahead in the world. This conviction takes a strong hold on wide-awake country boys in spite of the fact that many who have left the farms would have done better if they had stayed where they were.

Many of the most successful men today were country boys who in many cases had meager educational advantages. These are facts that are always mentioned in accounts of the careers of those who have gone to the front. The boys on the farms read these stories and it is not surprising that many of them are fired with an ambition to rise above their present surroundings.

Only recently there has been published the story of a Pennsylvania boy who left the farm at the age of 16 and entered a bank as office boy. Promotion followed promotion until he became the cashier of the institution, and two years ago he was elected to Congress. This is only one of innumerable instances of great success achieved by men who began life on the farm, and it is inevitable that such examples should have a powerful influence on the ambitious youths of the farming districts. It is true that many who leave the farms for the cities make miserable failures of life, but, unlike the successes, these failures are never exploited in the public prints, and so the country boys are permitted to see only one side of the picture, and that the alluring side.

The farm offers to any boy who will embrace and improve its opportunities a good living, a useful and an honorable career, but it does not, as a rule, offer wealth or distinction. The life of the farmer is slow and hum-drum, as compared with most activities in this rapid age, and the bustle of the cities, with the large rewards that await the successful, constitutes a call that many country boys cannot withstand. Hence they rush from the farms, some to success and more to failure, but the rush continues. The movement may be regrettable, but is easily understandable, and there is nothing in sight at present that bids fair to check it. For the reasons stated Young America is heading for the cities today as never before, let the consequences be what they may.

Let not the man who has mortgaged his home for the purchase of an automobile imagine that he has reached the front. It is becoming the proper thing to have horses and carriages as well as automobiles, the former for pleasure driving near home and the latter for long trips. But with automobiles increasing as fast as they are the pleasure of carriage riding is rapidly diminishing.

It is stated that in the United States during the last fiscal year the consumption of whiskey was 10,000,000 more than for the preceding year. Such a showing in connection with the rapid increase of "dry" territory leads inevitably to the conclusion that there is good deal of prohibition that does not prohibit.

A negro was burned alive in Texas Monday, and within the last few days five men have been killed and many more wounded in the streets of New Orleans in battles between contending factions of the Mafia. But in these stirring war times such happenings are minor matters.

The date of the national Republican convention is rapidly approaching and the little army of "favorite sons" will soon know their fate. It will necessarily be the fate of most of them to be in a position to send telegrams of congratulation and promises of support.

The Aero Club of America is arranging for a transcontinental aeroplane flight, all in the interest of preparedness, of course. Prizes aggregating $100,000 are to be offered and the contest will be one of the big sporting events of the season.

Stop complaining about the weather. Deadwood, S. D., reports a fall of three feet of snow in the last few days. For variety in climate as well as in other things the United States beats the world.

The early indications are that this is to be the most successful hunting season the automobile ever experienced. Many large "bags" have already been reported.

The calendar says it is time for straw hats, but the weather fails to concur.

ARRANGE FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Committee From Storer Post Interviews Captains Howard and Wallace.

Commander M. H. Bell, Chief Marshal David Urich and a committee from Storer Post, No. 1, G. A. R., met today morning at the home of Captain Wallace and staff concerning the participation of the 15th Company Coast Artillery in the Memorial Day parade in this city.

Captain Wallace was addressed by Major Urich as follows:

We appear here sir, as comrades of, and representing Storer Post, No. 1, Department of New Hampshire, Grand Army of the Republic, and in its name and behalf we desire to most sincerely and gratefully express our thanks for the kind honor of the grant of this interview.

Our purpose sir, as in the years gone by, is to ask at your loyal hands the presence and aid, by your order or authorization of as many of your command as can properly be spared from necessary duty to join with us in the afternoon of the coming 30th instant in a public parade and appropriate exercises at our cemeteries, to the end that not only a public lesson of patriotism may be read by the present and the rising generation, but that we may, no less fifty than in the years gone by, honor the memory of those of our departed comrades, who, in their country's distant need, offered themselves as sacrifices upon the altar of a nation and a people undivided, and a flag, with its bright stars, no less in numbers, and its broad stripes, continued we trust, forever to us all.

DAVID URICH, Chief Marshal. Afterwards the party went to the navy yard where they interviewed Captain Howard, commandant, concerning the participation of the yard forces in the parade. Every request was granted them, in fact more than ever before from the reservation, which will include two full bands, and companies of marines and sailors from the various ships now in this port.

Major Urich's address to Captain Howard was as follows:

We appear here sir, as comrades of, and representing Storer Post, No. 1, Department of New Hampshire, Grand Army of the Republic, and in its name and behalf we desire to acknowledge our grateful thanks, for the honor of the grant of this interview.

Our mission sir, as in the past to your predecessors commanding this reservation, is to ask at your hands the presence and aid, of such musical, military and naval organizations now under your command as may be properly spared from this station and ordered or authorized by you, to join with us in the afternoon of the coming 30th instant in a public parade and exercises at our cemeteries, to the end that not only a public lesson of patriotism may be taught to the present and the rising generation, but that we may, by your loyal aid, more fully honor the memory of those of our erstwhile comrades, who, in the hour of our disunited country's distant need, offered themselves as sacrifices upon the hopeful altar, of a Union undivided, and a flag with every star still floating, within its glorious field of blue.

DAVID URICH, Chief Marshal.

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, May 21.—Mayors of every Massachusetts city have signified their intention of turning out in the big preparedness parade in this city next Saturday. In most cases the chief executives will bring with them a delegation of at least 25 councilmen and city officials. The international club of Boston will march with 500 members and the Scottish clans, with a large number of their members in kilts, will parade. Over 2500 members of the Special Aid Society of women will be in line. The members have been asked to dress in dark suits, with small black hats and white gloves and each will carry an American flag. The United Spanish War Veterans will turn out more than one thousand men representing camps in every part of the state. They will be under the command of Department Commander John J. Lincoln of Lynn. The newbies of Boston, over 1000 strong will be in line each boy carrying an American flag. Major General Wood has accepted the invitation of Adjutant General Cole to review the preparedness parade. The committee of the parade has rejected its action in regard to floats and has ruled that floats can be entered in the parade and every effort will be made to encourage this feature. The Episcopal ministers of Boston with an enrollment of fifty members will march and have issued an invitation to ministers of other denominations to join. Mayor Curley has ordered the public buildings' commission of Boston to erect a grand stand in front of the city hall annex and this will be turned over to members of the Grand

CURRENT OPINION

Discipline is lacking in American homes. An eastern manufacturer showed me through mills where an army of men did his bidding, but in his home a seven-year-old boy broke into the conversation with interruptions until the father and I fled to the den upstairs.

He handled five thousand a day because there was discipline, but the boy was growing up without obedience.

The father of John Stuart Mill had no trouble in raising nine sons. He did not have the executive ability of the modern man nor money enough to buy the cheapest automobile, but he gave the world a rich possession in John Stuart Mill.

Then there is the incident of an American millionaire who was congratulated on his worldwide success and replied bitterly, "What's the use of it all when your son is a fool?"—By Right Rev. William H. Moreland, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of California.

The campaign to raise $50,000 for the educational movement of the Massachusetts Credit Union has been endorsed by Governor Samuel W. McCall, Mayor James J. Curley and Abraham I. Felkus, newly appointed U. S. Ambassador to Turkey. The money collected will be used to carry on the work of the Credit Union in Massachusetts. It will be used for an educational campaign to let the people of the state know how the fight against usury and the "loan shark" is being fought. Governor McCall outlined the legislation enacted at the state house this year against "loan sharks". He declared that he had received the cooperation of the Massachusetts Credit Union in the legislation, and said that the work of the kind that is helpful to everyone in the state.

More than 550 delegates are attending the 37th annual session of the Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters at Convention hall, 51, Dololph street. The morning session of the convention was taken up with the reading of reports and general business. Last night in Paul Revere hall the delegates attended a reception, entertainment and dance. Among the invited guests were Cardinal O'Connell, Governor McCall and Mayor Curley. Tomorrow at 9:30 o'clock the visitors will board a special boat for a trip round the harbor and a landing will be made at Nantasket beach at noon where a dinner will be served followed by dancing.

Attleboro is the second city in the state to ask for a special reservation of seats for one of the first Billy Sunday meetings held next fall. C. C. Cain, editor of the Attleboro Sun sent a request to Arthur Hobbins, secretary of the Boston Sunday committee, asking for a block of 3000 seats for a delegation from that city. Reservation will be made by George H. Sunday, son of the evangelist.

His Taking Ways

Not long ago the editor of an English paper ordered a story of a certain length, but when the story arrived he discovered that the author had written several hundred words too many.

The paper was already late in going to press, so there was no alternative—the story must be condensed to fit the allotted space. Therefore the last few paragraphs were cut down to a single sentence. It read thus:

"The Earl took a Scotch high-ball, his hat, his departure, no notice of his pursuers, a revolver out of his hip pocket, and, finally, his life."—Everybody's Magazine.

HAS A TONNAGE TAX PLAN

Senator Gallinger Introduces Bill Concerning Merchant Marine.

Washington, May 24.—A tonnage tax plan to build up the American merchant marine, with prohibitive rates assessed against foreign-built and owned merchantmen, is proposed in a bill introduced Tuesday by Senator Gallinger, minority leader, as a counterproposal to the administration's ship purchase measure. A 10 per cent discriminatory duty against imports in foreign bottoms also would be imposed. The bill proposes that a tax of 3 cents a ton, not to exceed 15 cents a ton in any one year, be imposed on inbound vessels from ports in the western hemisphere where the ships are American built and owned; 6 cents a ton, and not to exceed 30 cents a ton, on similar vessels from other ports; 30 cents a ton on American built craft under foreign flags and 50 cents a ton on all others.

GERMANY FEARED SUGAR SURPLUS, NOW LACKS IT.

Berlin, May 21.—The lack of sugar in Germany is becoming very embarrassing, and this has come as a great surprise to the German people, who at the beginning of the war felt convinced that if there was any article of food they had more than enough of it was sugar.

To say that Germany, which formerly exported huge quantities of sugar to England, was almost smothered in sugar during the first months of the war might perhaps be an exaggeration, but on the other side it is a fact that the immense quantities of sugar gave rise to considerable anxiety when it came into possession of some of the richest sugar producing districts in Europe.

Everything was done therefore to cut down the production of sugar, been an over-production was sure to lead to a serious fall in the price of this commodity.

The export of sugar to neutral countries was increased as much as possible and great quantities of the sugar beets produced in northern France were used as food for cattle.

It therefore seems very strange that the German people after two years of warfare are suffering from a lack of sugar.

It is evident there must have been a certain lack of foresight on the part of the authorities, but other circumstances have helped to bring about the present crisis.

The principal reason is, of course, that the sugar beet producing areas in Germany were cut down, partly because it proved impossible to get the necessary labor to handle the crop, partly because it proved more profitable to raise other crops, with high grain and cattle prices.

Simultaneously the lack of cattle fodder caused a great many farmers to use sugar beets to feed their cattle.

Now the export of sugar is entirely forbidden and according to the investigations of the Imperial sugar central the amount of sugar on hand is only about 2.2 pounds per capita a month until the next crop is ready for the market.

What the authorities are going to do is not yet certain but it goes without saying that 2.2 pounds a month per individual is far from enough for a nation that is living on very short rations. The normal consumption is nearly 5.5 pounds a month and health authorities say that to cut it down to about one-fourth of this will have a disastrous effect on the coming generation.

GERMAN TROOPS MAKE GAINS

Teutons Penetrate the Little Village of Cumieres.

(Special to The Herald)
Paris, May 24—Important gains for the Germans were admitted by the French war office today. French trenches on both sides of the Meuse river in the Verdun section, were captured by the Germans in another series of great infantry assaults last night. The Germans penetrated the village of Cumieres on the left bank of the Meuse. Hundreds of big guns hurled tons of steel against the French positions before the infantry of the enemy was sent forward. The bombardment of Dead Man's Hill was particularly violent. The Germans extended their attacking operations northwest of Verdun, assaulting the French positions east of Dead Man's Hill. These assaults carried the Crown Prince's soldiers into the village of Goulemers on the left bank of the Meuse and also put the Germans in possession of a trench. However, the Teutons paid dearly for these gains.

DAUGHTER IS AWARDED $2025

Jury Renders Verdict in Suit of Derry Girl.

Ann C. Rogers of Derry was awarded a verdict of $2,025 by the jury in superior court at Exeter on Tuesday afternoon for services in the care of her father, James Rogers, of that town.

Miss Rogers brought suit for $7,200 against Eliza J. Devries, administratrix of the estate of Abbie C. Moore, it being a probate appeal. The allegations were that Miss Rogers gave up her teaching duties and came to her home in Derry to take care of her father in his declining years and that a contract was made between her and Abbie C. Moore, whereby she was to have an amount equal to what she would have earned in teaching, and more in addition.

The arguments were made at this morning's session by Counselor John Scammon for the defendant, and Sherman E. Burroughs of Manchester for the plaintiff. The jury retired after the dinner hour and brought in the verdict in an hour. The foreman of the panel was Henry B. Montgomery of Northwood.

Just as coal when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incalculable material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and poison-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling tight must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal pure, clean and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and poison-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling tight must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal pure, clean and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incalculable material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and poison-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

PEOPLES' OPINION

Soldiers' Nurses, 1861-1865.

Editor—Will some one please send to this paper the names of any or all Portsmouth women who were Civil War nurses in Soldiers' hospitals, 1861 to 1865, giving if possible the name and location of the hospital, and the dates and length of service; and if any of such nurses are no longer living, the date of death, and cemetery where buried.

Another Kick About Bottles

Editor: A recent article in your paper touched on the matter of milkmen leaving broken bottles in the street, which auto owners complain of owing to the destruction of tires.

While this may be a just complaint and a wrong practice on the part of milkmen, I think auto parties are careless with bottles, and they should use some judgment.

While passing along Middle street a few nights ago, I was startled by the smashing of a large whisky bottle, thrown from a speeding auto against a fence, just a few feet ahead of me. Had this liquor receptacle struck me I would likely have passed a few weeks in the hospital, or passed away.

Break joy-riders should dump their empty bottles in the woods or keep them until they arrive home and hand them over to the junk man.

Practical Economy

Baking powders made from alum or phosphate may be bought for a trifle less than Royal Baking Powder, which is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes.

Alum powders are not only cheap, but they differ greatly in leavening power.

If a cheap baking powder is used for a fine cake and the cake turns out a failure there is a waste of costly materials worth more than a whole can of the cheap baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder produces the finest food, and its use therefore, results in an actual saving.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

Companies Refuse to Insure Life of Well-Known "Movie" Comedian.

Charlie Chaplin, king buffoon of the movies, values his life at an even $1,000,000.

It is well known that Charlie gets a perfectly scandalous salary and it was learned in Boston today that he has recently been trying to insure his life for an equally magnificent sum.

It was also learned that a Boston insurance company, to which Chaplin made application for that company's maximum amount of life insurance, $50,000, turned down the application because of the health record of Chaplin's family.

It was stated, however, that the famous actor succeeded in placing policies with various companies to amounts aggregating a huge sum, if not the million.

An important factor in every life insurance company's investigation of an applicant for insurance is the health record of the applicant's predecessors, brothers and sisters. It was in this connection that Chaplin struck a snag with the Boston company. Just what the record was could not be learned.

To insure one's life for a million means that policies must be had from many companies, as no one company would issue a policy for anything approaching the sum. All companies have a maximum, and in the case of the Boston company this was $50,000. It could not be learned here whether other companies turned down the famous applicant.

It was stated, however, that the famous actor succeeded in placing policies with various companies to amounts aggregating a huge sum, if not the million.

STRIKE SITUATION SHOWS VERY LITTLE IMPROVEMENT

Rumor that Boston and Maine Officials Have Made Terms With Maintenance Union Men to Hold Them on the Section

It has been learned here from an authoritative source that the Boston and Maine railroad officials are believed to have made an agreement with the members of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way to give them any increase that the road may later be compelled to give the workmen of the International Union of Section Employees, some of which are out on strike for a raise of 20 cents a day and a reduction of the working day from ten to eight hours. This report could not be verified from any of the official sources and railroad officers still assert that the strike is not affecting the system to any appreciable extent.

The Power Branch and the Conway Branch are badly handicapped, despite the assertions of the officers. It has been learned that on the Conway Branch but two men have remained on the work both of these at Milton. It was reported last evening, although not confirmed, that between Portsmouth and Boston no men were regularly attached to any of the sections and the necessary work was being done by forces sent out from Boston.

There was an important meeting at the North Station yesterday with sessions in the morning and afternoon. The meeting of the directors was called to consider further plans for the reorganization of the road and it is believed that these plans were very much advanced as a result of the conferences. The question of the disposition of the stock in the road now being held by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad took a considerable part of the meeting, one of the suggestions advanced being that, instead of allowing the stock to remain in the hands of the Boston Holding Company, it should be distributed on some equal basis among the stockholders of the New Haven stock. Pending a little further progress in the reorganization negotiations, the road's maturing notes will be extended to July 17—discounted at the rate of 6 per cent per annum.

It could not be learned whether the strike situation was touched at the meeting on account of the other important business. At the Portsmouth station the full crews are working and Mr. Olsen has 25 men working every day on the spare crew.

CARRANZA ORDERS 30,000 TO EXTERMINATE OUTLAWS

Washington, May 23.—The Carranza Government has ordered 30,000 troops into the region south of the border to exterminate bandits, according to information received today at the State Department. General Obregon's original orders, issued after the conference at El Paso with Generals Scott and Punston, assigned 10,000 men to General Trevino to thoroughly police the territory south of the American expedition. The new troops' movements are already in progress through Chihuahua, the department's advance state. The columns are routed north, via Saltillo, for the most part, as the railway strike has interfered with the movement of troop trains over other lines.

Among the other outstanding facts in the Mexican situation today were these:

Colonel Sibley's four cavalry troops which entered Mexico nearly two weeks ago in pursuit of the Glenn Springs and Boguillas bandit raiders were back at the border without casualties, having penetrated 156 miles. They rescued two Americans held prisoners by the bandits and brought back five Mexican prisoners.

Marion Letener, American consul at Chihuahua City, was due to arrive in Washington today with a full report on economic conditions in northern Mexico to be made to the State Department. Officials understand these conditions are bad.

At Mexico City the Carranza Government was preparing another note to be despatched to the United States within a few days. Officials here suggested it might contain a renewal of the demand for withdrawal of American troops and deal with the raiding in the Big Bend district.

Officers of the Judge Advocate general's office were perusing military law to determine whether 116 members of the Texas National Guard are subject to court martial for refusing to take the mustering oath to enter Federal service. Secretary Baker was to be advised concerning his possible action in the case.

Officials here were inclined to anticipate a further delay by General Carranza in dispatching his new note regarding the border situation. It has been assumed the note would in some measure be a reply to representations sent after the Glenn Springs and Boguillas raids. The official announcement that Colonel Sibley's expedition in pursuit of the raiders had returned across the border, however, after penetrating 165 miles into Mexico on a hot trail, was expected to lead to some alterations in the Carranza communication. Prompt withdrawal of the second expedition when it reached the end of the trail probably will have a beneficial effect on future negotiations with the de facto government, officials believe. General Carranza cannot fail to look upon the retirement of the troops when their immediate mission was concluded as demonstrating the purpose of the United States Government to be only the policing of the border region. General Scott assured General Obregon that no troops would remain in Mexico when danger of new raids had passed, and General Punston's handling of the Big Bend territory situation has fully carried out the statement made to the Mexican war minister.

CHECK COLLECTION PLAN DEFERRED.

Washington, May 21.—Federal Reserve Board voted unanimously to defer inauguration of the new clearing and collection plan in federal reserve banks to Saturday, July 15. After consultation by wire with governors of banks, it was found this was the earliest date at which it was possible to make the plan actually operative in all districts.

The board also decided against the suggestion that development of the new system be by two or three progress steps. The plan will become generally effective on the date named.

BY BAND AND ORCHESTRA

The second annual May concert and ball of the Portsmouth Local, American Federation of Musicians, was held last evening in Freeman's Hall with a large attendance. The music for the occasion was furnished by members of the union, a band of 35 pieces under the direction of Howard S. Kneeland, rendering an excellent concert from 8.00 until 9.00 o'clock. At the conclusion of the concert an orchestra of ten pieces, also under the direction of Mr. Kneeland, started the dance program with a waltz and from then until the conclusion of the ball the dance music was continuous, the orchestra and band alternating on the waltzes and one steps.

A short intermission was held at 11.00 o'clock during which refreshments of ice cream and cake were served and dancing was resumed until midnight. The arrangements for the ball were made by this committee: George Gray, chairman; Howard S. Kneeland, George E. Phillips, Arthur Hacker and Russell Davis.

AMERICANS IN PEKING ASK FOR DEFENSE.

Tokyo, May 23.—Americans who live in the suburbs of Peking, I learn, have been furnished with arms. The British residents of the Chinese capital are practicing drill in the legion grounds every morning.

They fear the troubles between President Yuan and the rebels will take on an anti-foreign tinge and the Boxer massacres will be duplicated. But the danger is probably small, because Japan has heavy legion guards in Peking and Tientsin. Thousands of other Japanese are living in Peking. They are not in business and appear to be tourists, but they are all of military age. Their numbers have caused much speculation among foreigners.

No blood is being shed in China, but the central government is exactly in the same position as if most of the country had been overrun by an invader.

No money is coming in from the provinces and foreign credit is at an end. Yuan is willing to retire, according to some reports, if the revolutionists will guarantee his life and property.

Without his money Yuan cannot abdicate; he might as well commit suicide. Once he leaves the Palace his life is not worth a day's purchase in China.

There is no doubt all are anxious for a settlement, rebels, Yuanites, commercial interests and everybody else. But every Chinese government is short of money, partly because the system under which the central authority gets revenue by squeezing contributions out of the provinces is fundamentally bad, partly because the bottom problem of China is how to fill two stomachs out of one bowl of rice.

At a time like the present if a Chinese government has not money to pay its soldiers the danger of trouble is acute, and in China trouble means intervention by or for the powers which have millions invested in the country.

SUPER-SIX SMOOTHNESS IMPRESSIVE, SAYS MAINE MAN AFTER THRILLING RIDE.

A prominent Maine business man who spends his winters in Florida comes forward with a talk filled with Super-Six enthusiasm, says Manager of Manchester Auto Garage Co. Hudson distributor for Portsmouth and vicinity.

"This man from Maine who annually goes to Florida to escape the worst of the winter weather, is a personal friend of Ralph Mulford, who took the Hudson Super-Six stock chassis to the southern beach to test its speed and endurance. Incidentally, as the world now knows, Mulford drove the Super-Six a mile in 35.12 seconds or at the rate of 102.5 miles per hour, thus breaking the world's stock chassis records, under A. A. A. supervision.

"Mulford invited the Maine gentleman for a spin on the beach in his Super-Six, and the latter accepted. Ralph let the car out at a pace which amazed his passenger. Speaking of his thrilling ride, the man from Maine said: 'The speedometer actually registered 95 miles an hour. It fairly took my breath away. We traveled at a much faster clip than I expect ever again to ride in an automobile. But even going at the great speed of nearly a hundred miles an hour the easy riding of the Super-Six was a revelation to me. I was not nearly so much impressed by this weird demonstration of speed as I was at the smoothness with which the car traveled, the absence of vibration and the actual comfort of the car under such a stress of propulsion. It seemed incredible to me that a car could be driven at such speed without the slightest difficulty in acceleration, or with the oiling system and with such a perfection of its functioning in all essential particulars. I made up my mind right there on Daytona beach that the car which could accomplish such a feat of speed coupled with so much comfort and the entire absence of motor troubles, or of vibration, was the car for me.' The gentleman from Maine is now back home in Portland and the first thing he did after arrival was to look a rush order for a Super-Six, which has been delivered to him. His enthusiasm as a driver of his own car is undiminished."

Spring plowing—Per cent done to May 1, 1916, estimated 31 per cent, compared with 43 May 1 last year and 26, the ten-year average.

Spring planting—Per cent done to May 1, 1916, estimated 2 per cent, compared with 16 May 1 last year and 8, the ten-year average.

Hay—Old crop on farms May 1, estimated 35,000 tons, compared with 34,000 a year ago and 50,000 two years ago.

Prices—The first price given below is the average on May 1 this year, and the second the average on May 1, last year. Corn, 88 and 85 cents per bushel; oats, 82 and 65; Potatoes, 140 and 42; Hay, $15.00 and $15.00 per ton. Eggs, 23 and 24 cents per dozen.

WANT THE ELKS TO PARADE WITH VETERANS

Grand Army Extends Invite to Local Lodges to Assist in Memorial Day Exercises.

Following the custom in many cities the Storers Post, No. 1, G. A. R., has extended an invitation to the Portsmouth Lodge of Elks to participate in the annual Memorial Day parade. The communication now in the hands of the Elks will be acted upon at a meeting on Thursday night and it is most likely that the invitation will be accepted and that the lodge members will be found in line on the day given over in honor of the patriotic dead. The communication from the Post is as follows:

Headquarters Storers Post, No. 1, G. A. R., Dept. of New Hampshire, Portsmouth, N. H., May 18, 1916. To Exalted Ruler, Lodge 97, D. P. O. Elks, Portsmouth, N. H.:

Sir:—At the regular meeting of Storers Post, No. 1, G. A. R., held last evening, it was unanimously voted to request the Post Committee on Invitations, for Memorial Day parade and exercises at the South Cemetery, to cordially extend to your far famed, loyal and patriotic organization, a special and urgent invitation to participate with our fast fading veterans in the said parade and exercises, to the end that we may more fittingly honor through your voluntary participation the memory of those of our comrades who have passed to the Great Beyond, and who in the hour of our direst need offered their lives in defense of that flag you so devoutly love and honor.

Therefore, in happy accord with the above instructions from our Post, the undersigned, for and in behalf of the aforesaid invitation committee, hereby unanimously and most gladly listen to extend the said invitation as ordered and as above written.

We have the honor to be, Sir, and first ever to remain, ever yours in Fraternity, Loyalty to Country, and its Starry Flag.

(Signed) DAVID CURRIE, Chairman, Committee on Invitations, Storers Post, No. 1, G. A. R., Department of New Hampshire.

NOONE HERE FOR A VISIT

Meets Political Leaders; Says Campaign Looks Good to Him.

Hon. Albert W. Noone, one of the Democratic aspirants for governor was about the city today on his way to Wolfboro. Mr. Noone found time to call on the local leading Democrats and many of his other acquaintances in Portsmouth. When asked how his campaign was progressing he said, "It certainly looks good to me. I have been received most royally everywhere in regard to my candidacy for the primaries. I am in this fight to the finish."

He spoke of the new Army and Navy Home for enlisted men and said Portsmouth should have some help from the state to help maintain the home for the men. He also spoke on the natural advantages of Portsmouth, of the excellent work produced at the naval station, and the beautiful and valuable harbor.

After calling on Judge Page, Mayor Ladd, Postmaster Dowd, Senator Parsons and a few others, he started for Wolfboro in his auto where he will look over a mill with a view to purchasing the same.

BELIEVES IN PREPAREDNESS

Dan Cupid Working Overtime at Present in Boston.

Cupid is too busy in Boston to permit of his participation in the preparedness parade of the employees of the city who preside over the affairs of the marriage registry. They expect to distribute nearly 100 marriage licenses to hopeful swains and prospective brides Saturday and will be too busy to think of preparedness spectacles.

This year's rush of the marriage registry reached its highest point thus far on Monday when 75 marriage intentions were filed. This is the highest record for any day in May for two years. In May, 1914, 78 applications were made for licenses in one day. The five days which must elapse between the filing of an intention and the issuance of a license will elapse next Saturday on the 75 intentions filed on Monday. Together with these a number of prospective brides and bridegrooms who filed their intentions last week but have not yet secured their licenses are expected to call on Saturday.

CITY OR COUNTY MUST PROVIDE THE MEANS

Judge Guptill Makes a Ruling in Cases Where Children Are Kept From School.

Judge Guptill in police court this morning made a ruling that before he would impose a sentence on parents who keep their children out of school, where it was shown that the child was kept out because the mother had to go out to work and the child was kept at home to care for younger children, either the county or city poor departments must provide means for the parents to obey the law.

The case before the court this morning was that of Mrs. Frank Morgan of Parker street, charged with keeping her little girl out of school. The trustee officer showed that the child had been kept out twenty-eight times this term, (April 3) and that the mother was very defiant and would not send the child to school. Through her counsel, Attorney Corey, she stated that her husband had left her on Sunday night and that he had taken seven out of nine dollars that had been in the house, leaving her two dollars to care for herself and three children. She admitted that she had not mentioned this to the school officer. She testified that her husband had not been working and that she had to go out to work herself and she had to keep the child at home to care for the younger children. She had applied to the county commissioners to board the children so she could go to work, but had not made any complaint to the police that her husband had left her as he left a note saying that he was going away and would write her.

Judge Guptill found her guilty and said he would continue the case for sentence, that this was like previous cases where it was shown that the parents would have help from city or county. In one case still pending, the overseer of the poor had given the mother an order for groceries for one week and then had discontinued it. In another case where a woman whose husband is dead, was forced to go out to work and the oldest girl was obliged to remain out to care for the younger children. Judge Guptill said he would not impose sentence in any of these cases until something was done for the parents.

The school department contends that the children are being deprived of their education which the state law is very definite in demanding that they shall have. Nothing can be done by the trustee officer, charged with the enforcement of the school attendance law, but bring the cases to the attention of the court.

Three such cases have been brought to court and in each case they have been adjudged guilty, but continued for sentence as it has been shown that in order to live the mothers have had to go out to work.

WHAT A HERALD AD WILL DO

Thomas McKenna of Parker street says it pays to advertise, especially in The Herald. On Tuesday he placed a lost ad in The Herald for a new vest which he lost on his way from a tailor shop and in less than an hour after the paper was on the street, the lost article was returned to the owner.

This is only one of the many good results from a Herald ad. Always read the classified column of this paper. It means much to the readers.
